Cottage or May-Flowering Tulips

Top-Size Bulbs Only

The Cottage Tulip group is unique in that it presents the greatest variation in flower form of any of the major kinds. There are egg-shaped and bowl-shaped Tulips, as well as some that show a rasebud form, and in addition to these there are the popular Lily-Flowered with long, pointed, gracefully reflexed petals.

Bulbs How to use them for BEST EFFECTS

In general, bulbs require no especially fertile soil, but it should be deeply dug to afford good drainage. Buy good bulbs, for quality means more than quantity. Order early and plant early. Plant in masses. A better effect is obtained by using a hundred bulbs of one variety than by ten patches of ten different varieties. Choose colors with care, and rather than risk clashes of coloring, separate the colors by white and cream varieties. Lift Tulips annually, other bulbs when necessary, but do not disturb Scillas or Snowdrops, any more than you must. Do not use manure at planting time. Bone meal and well-decayed cow manure are excellent. Water indoor-grown bulbs regularly.

Bulbs always appear best in masses against a background of shrubs or evergreens, where the brilliant colors of the bulbs stand out in all their beauty. Short-stemmed sorts should, of course, be planted in front of the longer-stemmed ones, with the very short ones at the margins of the bed.

WOODRUFF'S LAWN SEEDS

Gro-Sod LAWN FOOD A Real Plant Food

This is our own blend of grass plant-foods, designed to feed the grass over a considerable period of time. Analysis: 10 per cent Nitrogen (of which half is organic), 6 per cent Phosphoric Acid, and 4 per cent Potash soluble in water. One pound of Gro-Sod Lawn Food is enough complete plant food for 100 square feet of lawn for the entire spring season if applied in late March or early April. For best results, follow with a second feeding during September.
